MONDAY MORNING, FEB 22, 1864

By Telegraph

Our dispatches this morning contain many items of interest; the most important if true—and every honest man will hope that it may prove to be so—is that concerning the capture of the Alabama. The piratical craft was last reported in the China Seas, and it is quite possible that some Federal war steamer cruising in that vicinity may have captured her. In a good cause, the zeal and perseverance of her commander would have won much praise in behalf of treason and rebellion, he has richly earned a freebooter's infamy.

Gen Butler has sent an excellent letter to the rebel authorities, who presumed to refuse to recognize him as a Federal officer. We hope he may yet have the opportunity, in the very city of Richmond to dictate terms of submission, just like those which were so distasteful in New Orleans, and to compel the men who hate him so heartily to acknowledge his authority as their master.

The Twenty-Second of February

This is the honored anniversary of the birth of Washington—a day to be observed by every American citizen, with respect and reverence, so long as freedom has a home, founded, defended and diligently cared for by his patriotism, his wisdom and his distinguished military and civic services. His pure fame, above that of any of the human race, is recognized and appreciated throughout the world. No words can gild what his upright and eminent deeds have made immortal and illustrious beyond comparison. It is especially becoming, therefore, that the people who enjoy the fruit of his patriotic labors in their behalf, should turn aside on this day from their ordinary pursuits, to reflect upon his grand example and to study the lessons of loyal wisdom which he has left on record, for their instruction and profit. In many of the States the day is by statute set apart as a holiday, and its observance as such, with appropriate ceremonies, has become general. We hope before many years, it will be universal throughout the Union. In Oregon, we are glad to know that there is a growing disposition to regard it fittingly, and that in many of our towns and cities, there will to day be manifestations of respect to the memory of him, who was First in War, First in Peace and First in the hearts of his countrymen. No man, who does not esteem and reverence that memory as the nation's proudest and richest jewel, can be worthy to share the blessings of the liberty for which he fought, and no man can justly appreciate his life and services, who will not, in his spirit, stand truly and decidedly by the Union, which he more than all others, prepared as a stronghold of freedom, defended and protected by law.

How the Rebels regard their Allies

A late Southern paper says:

The principle of slavery is in itself right, and does not depend on difference of complexion.

This declaration is perfectly consistent with the action of slave holders for the last forty years. Their tyrannical exercise of political power, to which Northern men have been compelled to submit, shows that they regard the whole land as only a sphere for the exercise of their arbitrary authority. They intended to be masters, and they also determined that all others, no matter what their complexion, should be slaves. The poor whites at the South and laboring men at the North, with the masses of the Democratic party which always was governed by their dictation—all alike were deemed mud-sills, and the fit servants of the imperial chivalry. True, they did not exactly dare to express their scorn of freemen formerly, lest they might thereby weaken their political influence. They petted Northern leaders of the Democracy, by giving office to such, as like Buchanan and Pierce were willing to sell themselves to slavery, for the distinctions of place. They gained every wish of their hearts save the control of free territory, and to revenge themselves for the loss of that, they made war and opened rivers of blood and desolation throughout the land. In their new system, they make no concealment of their purposes, for they now boldly declare that the principle of slavery is inherently right, without regard to complexion! There is at this time no pretence that the blacks alone are subject to enslavement—but all who may be whipped or driven are appropriate to it and servants of lordly masters. Such a doctrine is a natural sequence of the course of life which is begotten under the influence of slavery, and if the institution had continued to rule the land a few years longer, the whole nation must have been delivered over, bound hand and foot to the infamous tyrants, who believe that slavery is right and claim to be masters. Too long have they rioted in their abusive power; it is high time for the people of the United States to assert their rights and to teach these presumptuous rebels that all that is good and free and enterprising in this land can never more be the captured prizes of slavery and oppression, aye, to teach them that liberty is right and shall prevail, without regard to complexion.

DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN [illegible]

Dates to February 16th

Gen. E. O. C. Ord to take Command of the Army of the Potomac

Railroad Opened from Chattanooga to Knoxville.

Cavalry Raids in Mississippi.

Grant's Army under Marching Orders

$25,000,000 Gold in the U S Treasury

Report of Rebel Successes in East Tennessee Untrue

Fight on Yazoo River

Proclamation of Jeff Davis to his Army

Escape of Officers from Libby Prison—Their Recapture—Rations in Libby Prison

WASHINGTON, Feb 1[illegible].—Richmond papers contain the following:

Lake City (Fla) Feb 8th—Eighteen Monitors and transports have arrived at Jacksonville. The enemy are reported to be in force.

Charleston, Feb 8th—The enemy [illegible] fire on the city last evening. A fifth Monitor [illegible] appearance to-day. The enemy are [illegible] guns bearing on the channel. A 200 pound [illegible] last week in a blacksmith's shop—killing and wounding six men.

The Richmond Examiner contains [illegible] a Federal reconnoissance which states that the Federals left 17 dead and 4[illegible] wounded in rebel hands. Their loss was four killed, 20 wounded and one lieutenant and 20 men captured. One Federal captain and 39 privates were captured.

The Examiner says the authorities have taken measures to prevent the anticipated [illegible] of Yankee prisoners on Belle Island.

The same paper urges a stringent enforcement of the conscription law.

WASHINGTON, Feb 1[illegible].—Six guerrillas disguised in Federal uniforms were captured three miles beyond Harrisburg last night.

BALTIMORE, Feb 13.—A passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was waylaid by guerrillas two miles west of Martinsburg [illegible] yesterday morning, thrown from the track and the passengers robbed of 49 or 50 watches and $4000. No resistance was made. The robbers were disguised in Federal uniform, and made off with their booty as soon as it was secured. They did not attempt to destroy the mail or cars. Cavalry has been sent in pursuit.

NEW YORK, Feb 13.—The Herald's Washington dispatch reports that Gen E. O. C. Ord is [illegible]. Rumor says that he will take command of the army to-day or Saturday.

A convention to amend the State Constitution of Virginia meets at Alexandria to day.

CHATTANOOGA, Feb 12.—The railroad is open and trains are running to Knoxville—crossing the creek at Tunnel bridge, and the Holston river at Trenton by ferry.

The temporary drain of the army, caused by re-enlisted veterans going home, is fully equalled by the return of convalescent soldiers from the hospitals and recruits coming in.

Gen Logan left Huntsville several days ago with the 15th Army Corps to join Sherman.

A cavalry expedition under Smith and Grierson crossed the country from Corinth going south. It is understood that these cavalry are to act in conjunction—one to attack the enemy and the other to cut off his retreat, and to disperse forces of rebel cavalry now scouring the country in Northern Mississippi.

CHICAGO, Feb 14.—A Chattanooga telegram of the 12th says that the army is under marching orders.

MORRISTOWN, Tenn, Feb 12.—Reports from Knoxville represent that the garrison is suffering from small pox of which there are 700 cases, also, from scarcity of rations.

NEW YORK, Feb 14.—The Post's Washington special says: There are over $25,000,000 in gold in the Treasury, and it is announced that Secretary Chase will soon sell part of it for Treasury notes.

The Republican has authoritatively announced that the reports published that communications between Knoxville and Cumberland Gap are cut off, and that nearly all of East Tennessee is in possession of the rebels, are entirely untrue.

CINCINNATI, Feb 14.—A Knoxville telegram of the 11th, received by Adjt. Gen Shaw states that all is quiet in front. The enemy have fallen back to their old intrenchments. Our lines are being extended to the Virginia line. The spring campaign will be the most vigorous of the war.

LOUISVILLE, Feb 14.—Gen Foster arrived to day. He left Knoxville on Thursday morning, at which time all was quiet with the exception of slight skirmishing between cavalry forces.

CAIRO, Feb 13.—Reports from the South seem to confirm the rebel news of fighting up the Yazoo river. The gunboats participated with excellent effect. The first fight was at Sartatia, and the second at Mechanicsburg, a short distance beyond. In both engagements our loss was six killed and 13 wounded. The rebels had a battery at Sartatia which our troops captured. The rebels fled with some loss.

We have a report of a fight at Highland Hills between the rebels and a part of Sherman's Corps in which our loss was 25 killed and wounded. No particulars.

Second Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb 15.—Special dispatches to the Herald from the Army of West Virginia, received yesterday, say: A portion of the guerrillas who intercepted the trains on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and robbed the passengers, were overtaken and captured a few hours afterwards. The cavalry were in pursuit of the remainder. The whole band numbered thirty-eight, ten of whom were captured.

Richmond papers of the 10th February contain the following proclamation of Jeff. Davis to the rebel army:

Soldiers of the Army of the Confederate States:—In the long and tedious war in which your country is engaged, you have acted nobly; you have won glorious victories over vastly superior numbers; you have suffered privations to which you were unaccustomed; to all these you have readily submitted. Latterly you have aided in the triumph of the noblest of human victories—a victory over yourselves. As the time drew near when you who first entered the service might reasonably have been expected to claim relief from your arduous labors, and be restored to the endearments of home, you have heeded the call of your country and again come to tender your services as a free offering which only such patriots as you could make—a triumph worthy of the cause to which you are devoted. It would be vain for me to attempt to express the emotion with which I received the manifestations of the esteem and regard which you have shown to me. Would that it were possible for me to render my thanks in person, and in the name of the country, as well as my own, and while pressing the hand of each veteran to assure him of our love and gratitude. By your will, for you and the people are both one, I have been placed in the position which prevents me from sharing your privations, sufferings and dangers in the field, yet with pride and affection my heart has accompanied you in every march. With solicitude it has sought to minister to your every want. You are not ready to purchase dishonorable safety by a degrading submission. The victories of Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, are referred to, and the downfall of the Union armies are confidently predicted.

CHICAGO, Feb 15.—A Cairo dispatch says a fight took place at Satartia Mills on the 4th with 3,000 rebels with musketry and artillery—they first opened on transports. The enemy were dislodged with fearful loss.

NEW YORK, Feb 15th.—Over 10,000 bales of cotton were accidentally destroyed by fire at Wilmington, N. C., on the 8th.

A dispatch from Vicksburg states that after a slight skirmish attended with but little loss to the Union troops, Jackson and Yazoo city are in the hands of Sherman. This success gives us a fine forage country.

Gens McPherson and Hurlbut had reached Jackson. Col Carter occupied Yazoo city after a rough fight where we lost a few men.

Dispatches from Washington say it is reported to military authorities there that troops from Lee's and Beauregard's armies are being sent to other points in the confederacy, probably to Mobile, Atlanta, and Knoxville. It is stated that Lee has but 30,000 infantry on the Rapidan.

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

REPORTED CAPTURE OF THE ALABAMA

Letters on the Exchange of Prisoners

NEW YORK, [illegible].—[illegible] special dispatch says: Gen Butler has issued an order forbidding the sale [illegible] Department [illegible] of fine [illegible] orders that all estates in his Department abandoned or unoccupied by rebels shall be taken possession of by the [illegible] Superintendent of negro lands or his officers or agents.

The [illegible] dispatch says: The correspondence between the United States and the rebel authorities in relation to exchange of prisoners has been submitted and published and is the following letter from General Butler defining his position:

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb 12.

To Col. Robert Ould—Sir, Your note addressed to Major Gen Hitchcock in relation to appointments of [illegible] Government of the United States for exchange, is returned. This Government claims the exclusive power of appointing its own agents to represent its interests, irrespective of any supposed sanction by the Confederate authorities. No right of declaration of outlawry by them against any officer of the United States will be admitted or formally regarded by the Government of the United States, and it cannot be by the parties upon whom such authority is attempted. I am instructed to renew the offer, laying aside all other questions, to exchange man for man, officer for officer of equal rank actually held in custody by respective parties until all prisoners of war so held are exchanged. I have leave to express the hope from humane considerations for those confined as prisoners of war on both sides, that the offer will be accepted. I am further authorized to inform you that unless the flag of truce sent forward by the commanding General of this Department is recognized and respected by your authorities, further communication between this Government and the Confederate authorities by flag of truce must cease, however much the loss of its influence upon what ought to be civilized warfare is to be regretted, but the responsibility for such a determination must be left with those whom you represent.

(Signed) B. F. BUTLER, Brig Gen.,
Commissioner of Exchange.

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.—The published report as to the intended protest by our Government against the French occupation of Mexico is not well founded.

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb 15.—The Richmond Examiner of [illegible] 11th contains a list of the officers who escaped from Libby prison and were recaptured, as follows: 12 colonels, 7 majors, 32 captains and 2 lieutenants. Gen Neal Dow did not attempt the passage of the tunnel, for fear his strength would fail him in the flight.

JACKSONVILLE, Feb 17.—Private advices from China report the capture of the Alabama.

Richard Collins convicted of the murder of Lemuel Pruett, in Jackson county, was to-day sentenced to imprisonment for life.

JACKSONVILLE OFF.

Additional Eastern News.

From the Sacramento Union we have the following additional news:

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb 8th.—Telegraphic communication has been restored with Newbern.

The Richmond Sentinel of February [illegible] states that two Union transport and gunboats were at West Point on the 29th and also that three thousand Federals were advancing up the Peninsula.

Twenty-five rebel cavalry were captured in Gloucester county (Va) on Friday the 5th.

Considerable anxiety was felt at Richmond for Early's command.

ST LOUIS, Feb 9.—A Portsmouth (Ark) dispatch says: The steamer Icon had arrived with Commissary stores. Other steamers are expected shortly. A squad of Texas refugees six days from McCulloch's headquarters at Bonham, arrived on Sunday the 7th. They report a fearful state of affairs in the whole country beyond our lines. Engagements between deserters and guerrillas were frequent, and the former were generally successful. Refugees and numerous messages to the Federal army pledging enough recruits to hold the country. They only want to see the head of the Federal army to rise. Steele's cavalry advance occupies Benton sixty miles south of Little Rock.

NEW YORK, Feb 9.—A Washington special dispatch says: Sumner's amendment to the Constitution proposed in the Senate yesterday reads as follows: Every person within the limits of the United States and of each State or Territory thereof, shall be equal before the law, [illegible] that no person can hold another as a slave. In the test question on the indefinite postponement the vote stood [illegible] ayes to 31 noes.

Bills were also introduced by Sumner repealing all laws providing for the returning of fugitive slaves and providing that there shall be no objection made to any witness in United States Courts on account of color.

WASHINGTON, Feb 9th.—The subject of confiscated lands is under consideration in the Committee on Public Lands. The opinions of those familiar with the policy of the Government, who have given the subject the most careful consideration, have been obtained and [illegible] a bill providing for the [illegible] such lands in a legal form [illegible]

[illegible]

In the Senate Sumner presented a petition from [illegible] of New York, [illegible] 300 of Illinois, 11,600 [illegible] praying for the entire abolition of slavery.

[illegible]

On Sunday morning [illegible] Richmond.

[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Feb 10.—General Grant telegraphs [illegible] Indians at Chattanooga [illegible] successful. They surprised the [illegible] hundred and fifty [illegible] fifty prisoners and drove the remainder of the [illegible]

NEW YORK, Feb 10.—The [illegible] 21 has arrived. Banks [illegible] State Convention [illegible] election [illegible] the 2[illegible]th of July, 1864 [illegible]

The Erie State Nominating Convention met on [illegible] After an exciting time [illegible] The majority then nominated [illegible] B F Flanders [illegible] the regular ticket. The number of voters exceed all expectation.

An active campaign was looked for as soon as Farragut's fleet arrived.

The Richmond Sentinel says in reference to the conspiracy to liberate the Yankee prisoners, assassinate the President and destroy the buildings, that the matter being placed in the hands of a detective resulted in the arrest of a German named Heinzer a member of the treasonable organization. A number of important papers were also seized, including the list of members of the organization. Other documents were seized of such a character as to leave no doubt of Heinzer's crime and criminality as well as others.

MONROE, Feb [illegible].—The enemy crossed the Big Black yesterday at the railroad bridge. His force [illegible] six regiments of infantry and two of cavalry with two batteries. He attempted to cross at Messenger's but failed.

The city is full of rumors. Some excitement prevails. The people generally are confident. The enemy are [illegible] strong. General Ross whipped their cavalry yesterday on the Yazoo.

CHARLESTON, Feb [illegible].—Eighty shells were fired at the city to-day. The Mercury's first eleven and twelve inch shells [illegible]

Gen Butler has commenced the establishment of the school system at Norfolk and Fortress Monroe, precisely like that of Massachusetts.

The President has acceded to the wishes of the State Convention of Arkansas, and ordered Gen'l Steele to hold an election on the day designated, and to make [illegible] of avoiding a collision between the military and civil powers, has ordered General Sickles to go to Arkansas [illegible]

A rebel dispatch dated Orange Court House, Feb [illegible] 7th says: The enemy crossed in large force on Saturday the 6th, at Morton's Ford, but after a sharp contest were repulsed by Ed. Johnson's division and driven back over the river and pursued. Our troops returned this morning. The enemy also attempted to cross at Barnett's Ford, but were repulsed by General Stuart's North Carolina brigade and Lomax's cavalry. The casualties on our side are slight. The enemy have retired.

A letter from Wilmington (N C), January 25th states that Western North Carolina and the adjacent counties of Georgia were recently invaded by 1,500 Yankee cavalry who pillaged indiscriminately and carried off negroes, horses and food.

CLINTON (Miss), Feb 4.—We have fought Sherman's two corps under McPherson all day. They made but two miles to-day and will encamp to-night six or eight miles beyond Clinton (ten miles west of Jackson). Persons who report the advancing column thirty thousand strong. General Ross whipped their cavalry on the Yazoo yesterday in a hand to hand fight with pistols.

The Savannah Republican of January 30th sees indications of a formidable attack in that vicinity. It reports however an attack on the rebel pickets at White Bluff, and the shelling of Thunderbolt battery by a Monitor without effect.

The Richmond Whig says the Virginia State Legislature [illegible] in secret session with a resolution to request the Confederate authorities to suspend the [illegible] against Gen Butler until an exchange of prisoners is effected.

ST LOUIS, Feb 10.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill for a State Convention in Louisiana. [illegible]

NEWBERN, N C, Feb [illegible].—Deserters report that the rebel General Pickett informed his command, consisting of [illegible] men that there were but 2,000 Union soldiers in Newbern, and that he intended to take the city by night assault. An arrival of a regiment from Beaufort just before cut off our communication at that point, together with the arming of firemen, and all citizens, white and black, satisfied the enemy we were more than a match for them—hence their failure to make an attack. The enemy has fallen back to Kingston.

WARSAW, N. C., destroyed on the 31st of January by fire.

HEADQUARTERS DEP OF VA, Feb 6th.—A mounted deserter from [illegible] says when he left, a rumor was prevalent that preparation was making for the immediate removal of all Yankee prisoners from the neighborhood of Richmond. Also that the Richmond authorities [illegible] mails, newspapers, etc, going from Richmond to the soldiers in camp.

LEAVENWORTH, Feb 1[illegible].—Gov Carney has been elected U. S. Senator in place of Lane. Carney received 88 votes. Opposition 31.

WASHINGTON, Feb 10.—In the Senate to day Trumbull reported from the Judiciary committee various bills and [illegible] the Constitution and another amendment by way of a substitute for the [illegible] of slavery through State legislation.

NEW YORK, Feb 10.—The Military Committee of the House this morning agreed to a resolution that all Generals who on the 10th of March next shall not have been in active service for the previous three months, are to be dismissed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee agreed to an amendment of the Constitution forever prohibiting slavery in the United States.

NEW YORK, Feb 10.—The Eagle brings dates from [illegible] to 6th of February and from Vera Cruz to 31st of January, and from the city of Mexico to the 28th. Reports from Costa Rica [illegible] says that Ebrague [illegible] taken prisoner at San [illegible]

There has been several skirmishes between the French and Juarez troops. One at San Juan [illegible] lasting four hours, in which Gen. Garses [illegible] a large number of soldiers were captured and many killed. The French loss was [illegible] killed and 13 wounded. A convoy from Jalapa to Vera Cruz, arrived on the 30th with [illegible] Camp [illegible] surrendered to the French on the 21st of January [illegible] Sealtie about Jan 9th. The French [illegible]

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 9.—On the envelope of a sealed letter received from Acapulco by the last steamer, is written: "The authorities have resolved to evacuate the city to the French." The letter came on board at the last moment before the steamer sailed. The Lancaster and Saginaw are there.

The bark Comet brings Honolulu dates to January 21st. The funeral of the late King would take place on the 27th.

WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE.—[illegible] of the past, Woman's work—or at least that portion of it most dreaded and continual—her sewing—is now speedily and beautifully done by the aid of the GROVER & BAKER Sewing Machine, which, while it lessens the labor adds to the excellence of the sewing by the strength, elasticity and durability of its work. The embroidery and braiding of this machine are wonderful and elegant features.

State Teachers' Institute

This association of Teachers met at Corvallis on Tuesday, February 16th, 1864, at 2 o'clock P M, to answer the call of the Executive Committee. A quorum of members not being present no business could be transacted. After considerable effort a quorum was obtained by procuring new members.

The President and Vice Presidents being absent Prof H G Dearborn, of Portland, was chosen President pro tem.

When a committee being appointed to report on programme, found that out of sixteen lecturers and essayists whose services had been promised only five were present, to wit: Wm Shelly, [illegible] Stetson and I. D. Driver of Corvallis, Rev. Wm Roberts and Miss S. A. Cornell of Salem.

By much effort the business was prolonged till Thursday noon when the Institute for the want of proper support, adjourned with but two dissenting votes.

The lectures by Rev. I. D. Driver and Wm Roberts on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings were quite interesting, but owing to the absence of Hon A. C. Gibbs and the Rev. E. R. Geary, they were called on before their respective times and were necessarily somewhat unprepared.

The Essay of Miss S. A. Cornell of Salem was very interesting and instructive and is highly spoken of by those who heard it, read. Its subject was "School Hours."

Prior to adjournment the following resolutions were adopted by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to the citizens of Corvallis for their generous [illegible] hospitality extended to the members of the Oregon State Educational Association and Teachers Institute in this City.

Resolved, That the thanks of the [illegible] of this Association [illegible] are hereby tendered to Rev I D Driver and Rev Wm Roberts for their able and instructive [illegible] and also to Miss S A Cornell for her able and interesting Essay [illegible]

Resolved, That we extend our thanks to the officers of the [illegible] for the liberal reduction in their rates of fare for the accommodation of the members of this Association [illegible]

Resolved, That no teacher is worthy of the name or even [illegible] his fellow teachers [illegible] will not [illegible] the Oregon State Teachers Association.

Resolved, That Rev I. D. Driver and Rev Wm Roberts be requested to furnish the committee with a copy of their addresses for publication, also that Miss S. A. Cornell furnish [illegible] copy of the Essay [illegible] for the same purpose.

Resolved, That the Secretary furnish the press with a copy of this resolutions and so much of the other proceedings as he may deem advisable.

A. C. DANIELS,
Recording Secretary.

SUPERANNUATED STEAMERS.—The O. S. N. Company have a place on the river, just below this city, where, for some years past, a boat that had become too old, or unfit for business, or lack of work to do, has been taken, and laid up, as the circumstances required, and the place is becoming commonly known as the "steamboat bone-yard." At present there are—remains and all—six boats lying at the "bone-yard," that may be considered now eclipsed, and almost forgotten. We will not pretend to eulogize the service of each of these crafts, or allude specially to the thousands who have gazed upon the magnificent splendors of our scenery, from their decks, as they were borne over the tranquil waters of the Willamette and the Columbia, but will merely take them as they come, and by recollection give their past history, but cannot go through the entire list to-day. The pioneers of Portland will remember the James P. Flint, which in her day, was considered a pretty nice affair, but which was afterwards remodelled and re-fitted, and placed upon tri-weekly trips to the Cascades, under the very fitting name of the "Fashion." She is now ... lying a total wreck, rotten and rotting, the once much admired craft. But little is left to remember her by, now, except it be the pages of her owners ledger, which are said to show a fair footing in her favor. The Senorita is next in place. It may be said that there is (said to be a) fatality attending this steamer. She was originally the Gazelle: was built for the Willamette, above Canemah, and had run but a short time when she was blown up, on the 18th of April, 1854, when leaving Canemah for Salem, killing twenty-five or thirty persons, some of whom were prominent citizens of Portland, and also, Mr Page, one of her owners. She was unfit for service any longer until in August '55, when she was relaunched below the Willamette Falls, and brought to this city, where she was refitted and put upon the Cascades line. After a few trips her hurricane deck was blown off; she was found to have been "hogged," and her running was attended with so great expense, that she was finally laid up in ordinary, and has gradually gone into decay, so that at present hardly enough of her is left to be seen.

DIRECTORS OF THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—Saturday afternoon, in compliance with the call of the Chairman of the committee, the bona fide subscribers to the Library Fund met at the United States District Court room and under the provisions of their Constitution elected the following gentlemen as Directors of the Portland Library Association: Wm. S. Ladd, B. Goldsmith, L. H. Wakefield, H. W. Corbett, E. D. Shattuck, C. H. Lewis, William Strong, W. S. Caldwell, P. C. Schuyler, Jr., Charles Calef. The time each director is elected for is to be determined by drawing. The constitution provides for rotation, two going out every two years.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.—In the Circuit Court on Saturday Judge Shattuck granted a temporary injunction, enjoining the City Collector from selling the property seized from sundry delinquent tax payers. The hearing of the arguments on the motion filed by the City Attorney to dissolve the injunction, was set for to-morrow morning, when this vexed question may be expected to receive its quietus, for this year at least.

NAVIGATING THE STREETS.—Several blocks on First street, at the upper end of the city, were for some days been flooded with water so much so that occupants had removed the planking on the walks in front of their premises and sunk trenches to drain their lots. At one of those places a party of boys had constructed a raft yesterday, amusing themselves by building dams on either side, and floating small crafts, with full rig and sails set, in the water that should be used by pedestrians.

STOCK CARRYING BUSINESS.—The Julia has been very successful as a stock boat, since she was placed upon the line for that purpose, between this city and the Dalles. In addition to the regular trips of the Julia, the steamer Express started up on Saturday, with a full load of horses for the mining regions.

STAMP CRUSHER.—A five stamp quartz crusher, intended for some locality in the quartz lode country, is now in course of construction at the Oregon Iron Works, in this city. Persons curious to understand this system of "stamp" duty, can see how it works in a draft of this machine.

THE STEAMER.—The Sierra Nevada was advertised in San Francisco on the 10th inst. for Portland via Victoria. The Oregon arrived on that day, reporting $181,455 in treasure from Portland and Victoria.

A ROUGH DAY.—Yesterday was what may be termed a "rough" day on the river, there being a strong wind from the East bank, that made the various crafts, laying along our wharves, dog their landings pretty close.

THE Oregon City boat had a large number of passengers down yesterday, in addition to the usual mails of the California Stage Company.

ADDRESS.—Hon. Amory Holbrook will address the citizens of Oregon City this evening, upon subjects of interest connected with the Sanitary Commission.

THREE new mining companies filed articles of incorporation with the County Clerk on Saturday last.

THE THEATRE.—A popular bill is introduced for the favor of the theatre patronizing public this evening.

THE steamer Pioneer has been libeled for wages, and has been taken into custody by the United States Marshal.

SPRING TIDES.—The spring tide occurs at the full of the moon, and is at its highest to-day about 4 o'clock P. M.

CANNON.—The gun that is to fire the National Salute to-day, was brought from Vancouver on the Hunt, Saturday evening.

THE Washington Guards will receive the military from Vancouver this morning on the arrival of the steamer from that place.

THE steamer Eagle is soon to appear in a new uniform. She is at present undergoing repairs in the rear of the city gas works.

THE EXHIBITION THIS EVENING.—The literary societies of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary, give their exhibition this evening. They have most certainly made a selection of very patriotic pieces and subjects fitting to the occasion of a celebration of the Birthday of Washington. We publish their programme of exercises:

1. Prayer.
2. Music.
3. Oration, "Discovery of America," J. B. Wiley.
4. Music, "Stand up for Uncle Sam."
5. Essay, "What a Change," Kate Shaw.

17. Oration, "Future Prospects of the United States," W. T. Welch.
18. Music, "After the Battle."
19. Essay, "Woman," Maria Kelly.
20. Music, "Angel Mother."
21. Oration, "Washington," W. B. Boswell.
22. Music, "Grave of Washington."
23. Benediction.

PICTORIALS, &c.—Charles Barnett received a fine assortment of eastern newspapers, magazines, etc, by mail on Saturday. He also has Greeley's Almanac for 1864, the best compilation of political statistics and general information, which is published in the country.

Washington.

BY PARK BENJAMIN.

Of all the heroes who have shone
On history's starry page,
The light, the glory, and the pride
Of each one lesser age—
Whose name is the brightest and the best?
Whose fame the dearest won?
They are thine own, imperial west:
For thine is Washington.

The laurels that adorned his brow
Are fresh as when they grew;
For he was first in war and peace,
As brave as he was true;
And from oppression's iron grasp,
With strong and constant hand,
He ransomed all his countrymen
And saved his native land.

In counsel wise, in prudence firm,
And spotless in renown,
He put away ambition's gauds
And spurned a kingly crown;
Wealth had no lure to drag him down
From his transcendant place;
For dearer than the world to him
The freedom of his race.

He was the Joshua of his time;
All men obeyed his will,
And in the valleys, where he fought,
The sun and moon stood still.
The soldier of the Lord, he went,
Held by a mighty hand,
Till he had passed the wilderness
And reached the promised land.

No warrior of the classic roll
Called out a juster praise;
For fewer gained no grander spoils
And wore no greener bays.
Like Cæsar, too, how well he wrote,
Though not with blood-stained pen,
A record of the noblest deeds
Achieved by noble men!

Great while he led his armies on,
Great while he ruled the land,
And greater still as he resigned
His country's high command—
When, great as he had lived he died,
Submissive to depart,
"America" was found engraved
Upon his inmost heart.

He loved the Union, "Guard it well,"
The dying hero said,
"That hour which sees its broken band
Will see your freedom dead.
Oh, guard it well, and let it stand
For its own sake secure;
Then Peace sustained by Liberty
Through ages shall endure."

Alas, could he have seen the hour
That we have lived to see,
He might have deeply mourned the loss
Of Peace and Liberty.
And could we listen to his voice
As oft he spoke before,
Our broken bonds might be [illegible]
And Union rise once more.

Oh, that his spirit might desc[end]
To-day like Heavenly fire,
And light upon our country's shrines
The old fraternal fire;
That Love and Peace might live again
And Hate and War be done,
As with accordant lips we hail the
The name of Washington!

Kitty Bragg's Husband.

"Mercy on us! What has happened to you, father? Run out quick, Charlie, and open the gate. What is the matter, John? You are as white as a sheet."

"Kitty, I'm drafted!"

In place of falling to crying and moaning, as is the fashion with some of our women, Kitty Bragg laid her hand heavily on her husband's shoulder.

John, I'm ashamed of you! If you were a child, I would give you a good shaking. [Com]pose yourself before Charlie comes in—I [would n]ot have him think his father was a [c]oward!"

"[It]'s a hard word, Kitty."

"[I kn]ow it, John, but the case demands it. I would not have you lowered in our boy's [eyes.] Now, John Bragg, let you and me [reason]; let us reason the matter together. [You] are a good man, John—a good husband and a good father. You are a brave man, too; [[illegible]] your trembling nerves. Who plunged [into the r]iver, just above the rapids, after [Mrs. K]ane's only son? Who flung himself [before] Mr. Morris' mad horse, and saved [his childr]en's life? Why, just John Bragg. [What] ails you, John. You are physi[cally n]ervous at the report of fire arms or the [sight of] blood. You have spent your life por[ing o]ver books, and never tried to overcome [your w]eakness. But you can overcome it, and [you m]ust."

This "must" was said smilingly.

"I must, indeed, for the die is cast, and [there] is no escape. I do not think it is want [of c]ourage; and I am sure my heart glows [with] love for my country. You know, Kitty, [I have] given freely of my poor means; but [wh]en I think of going to battle this strange [feel]ing seizes me, and I am reduced to the [weakne]ss of a child. I shall be disgraced; I [know it.] Don't you wish you had a brave hus[band], Kitty? I wouldn't blame you."

Kitty did not hear. She sat by the [kitch]en hearth, leaning her brown head on the [side] of the huge old-fashioned chimney. Her [th]oughts at last form themselves into the [w]ords—

"I verily believe, John, it is a thing you cannot help—it is your misfortune, not your [f]ault. Let us sell the place. Joe Martin will [give] you five hundred dollars for it, and then [you] can get a substitute. We can rent the [ol]d red house on the Murray farm, and the—[How]ever, Kitty! Talk no more; I would, [indeed] be a coward then. What! deprive [my] loved ones at home to save myself from [hards]hip? Never, never! It is not my life I [dread] it is just the din of battle and [the] dreadful carnage. I will go, my dear wife, and you must help me to be brave and do my duty."

The morning came at last that the drafted [wer]e to join their regiment. There was many [a te]ar shed by wives, mothers and sisters; but [Kitty] Bragg shed none—she had other work [to do.] She stood talking with John at the [end of] the platform.

"My little Bible is your knapsack, John. [Rea]d it often. Whenever you feel that trembling coming over you, John, pray; just pray God, and He will strengthen you. I know He will."

"O! Kitty, how can I live without you!"

This almost upset the brave little woman; but she stilled the quivering lip, and smiled through her tears. When the order to fall in was given, John laid his hand on her head, and said tenderly—

"God bless you, Kitty! you are the best wife ever a poor man had."

She lifted up her mouth for a kiss; but the white lips were mute—for the life of her she could not have spoken.

The train moved off, and Kitty went home. She shuddered as she crossed the doorstep. The clock ticked more lonely than she had ever heard it, and all seemed like desolation. Kitty sat down in her little sewing chair and wept like a child. Charlie came in, his face all aglow and his eyes flashing.

"What! mother [[illegible]] Why, I think it is a glorious thing to [[illegible]] one's arm for one's country—a thing [[illegible]] for," he said, rather dreamily.

"Yes, my dear son, it is glorious; but it is sad, too. I would not call him back; but I will be very lonely."

After that one burst of tears, Kitty was her own calm self again. Time passed on, and says that Kitty prayed oftener, and was more grave than her wont, one could see little change in her.

Charlie went off to school in the morning, and she was left alone all day. Broken ejaculations often escaped her lips—prayers for the safety and "strengthening" of her husband, until at last it became a habit.

One Saturday, as she was baking and churning, as usual, her heart was full of prayer for her husband.

"O, God! strengthen poor John, and let him not flinch in the day of battle. Charlie, bring me some more chips; for this fire won't burn."

A neighbor who was standing on the doorstep, smiled at the mingling of prayer and business.

"Have you heard the news, Kitty?"

The fear that John had deserted or done something cowardly took all her strength away and she sank down faintly on a chair.

"What is it, Mary?"

"Why, they had a riot in camp. Some of the men deserted, and some mutinied, and John—Bless me, Kitty, but your milk's all boiling over! There, I put it on the back griddle."

"What about John, Mary?"

"Why, John was the only one in his company that stood firm all through. He was as brave as a lion, though some of the half-crazy fellows threatened to shoot him if he did not join them. He influenced our boys to be quiet and do their duty. He told them it would only be for a little while; that after a while they would have a better camp and better rations. You know some of our boys were pretty wild, Kitty, and they might have got into trouble. My Joseph said he shouldn't wonder if your John came home yet with gold straps on his shoulders. His being so brave, and having so much influence over the men, pleased his colonel very much. Ain't you glad, Kitty?"

Kitty was crying for joy—that the first news of John should be good.

"Jacob said in his letter that he said to John, after the fuss—

"'John, how could you be so brave and firm when there was so much confusion, and those fellows had their bayonets pointed at you?'

"Your John replied—

"'Jacob, I came here to do my duty, and I am determined to do it; and, besides, how could a man go back from the right path with such a woman as my Kitty at home praying for me?'"

This made Kitty's tears flow the faster; but they were joyful tears.

All young men who fear the draft, go and find a wife like Kitty Bragg.

Old, but Amusing.—About thirty years ago, there resided in the town of Hebron, a certain Dr. Thornton, who became very much enamored of a young lady, a resident of the same town. The Doctor was a strong, decided Presbyterian, and his lady love was a strong and decided Baptist. They were sitting together one evening, talking of their approaching nuptials, when the Doctor remarked: "I am thinking, my dear, of two events, which I shall number amongst the happiest of my life."

"And pray, what may they be, Doctor," remarked the lady.

"One is the hour when I shall call you my wife for the first time."

"And the other?"

"It is when we shall present our first-born for baptism."

"What! sprinkled?"

"Yes, my dear, sprinkled."

"Never shall a child of mine be sprinkled."

"Yes, my dear, they shall all be sprinkled."

"They shall be, hey?"

"Yes, my love."

"Well, sir, I can tell you then, that your babies won't be my babies. So good night, Doctor."

The lady left the room and the Doctor left the house. The sequel was that the Doctor never married, and the lady died an old maid.

Daniel O'Connell and his Wife.—The following elegant and beautiful reply was made by Daniel O'Connell, in response to a toast given in compliment to his wife, who was the object of his long and affectionate attachment. It was given at a political meeting:

"There are some topics of so sacred and sweet a nature, that they may be comprehended by those who are happy, but they cannot be possibly described by any human being. All that I shall do is to thank you in the name of her who was the disinterested choice of my early youth; who was the ever cheerful companion of my manly years; and who is the sweetest solace of that 'sere and yellow leaf' age at which I have arrived. In her name I thank you; and this you may readily believe; for experience, I think, will show to us all that men cannot battle and struggle with malignant enemies, unless his rest at home is warm and comfortable—unless the honey of human life is commended by the hand that he loves."

Facetiæ.—The venerable Storrs recently remarked, when his opinion was asked of a certain person: "If I was a chicken and saw him around, I would go up into the very highest branches to roost."

This is one of the Antediluvians, but then everything acquires a funnyness that falls from the lips of our venerable and jocose friends:

A stranger inquired of him if he knew where a certain lawyer had his office. "He offices on the sidewalk and carries his library in his hat," was the prompt reply.

Having listened to a witness whose testimony was very unsatisfactory—"I am in favor," said he, "of electing witnesses by the people."

A gentleman having presented the venerable barrister with an inferior cigar, he exclaimed: "My respect for the memory of Sir Walter Raleigh will not allow me to smoke such a villainous affair as that."

The honesty of a certain professing Christian being the subject of conversation, "I think," said he, "if he had been present at the Last Supper, he would have stolen the napkins."

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED

Compound Fluid

EXTRACT BUCHU,

A POSITIVE AND SPECIFIC REMEDY

FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL

AND

DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.

This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the ABSORBENTS into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCEROUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse,

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power,
Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing,
Weak Nerves, Trembling,
Horror of Disease, Wakefulness,
Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms if allowed to go, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess
